SELLS MEAT MARKET

Mr. Edward Schwartz, one of the most prominent butchers in the city, sold his meat market at the corner of Sutton and West Second streets on Saturday to Mr. Clarence Phillips and nephew, William.

Mr. Phillips is a well known citizen of the county. His nephew, Mr. William Phillips, comes to this city from Toledo, Ohio. They took charge of the store this morning.

Mr. Schwartz will remain in the store for only a few weeks in order to allow the gentlemen time to become familiar with the business.

SUPERVISOR'S REPORT

The Maysville tobacco market sold during the past week a total of 1,911,690 pounds of tobacco at an average of $16.33. Tobacco was a large percentage of the week's crop and was offered and sold at $18 to $20 average. You cannot expect much if any advance in the market. The time is nearing to close and we advise all to get your tobacco to markets as soon as possible.

WITNESSES RETURN HOME

A number of witnesses from Ewing, who had been attending the Frazier trial in Louisville, Ky., passed through this city Saturday afternoon en route to their homes. About fifteen in the party. A number of the persons could not return, the trial not being over.

MARRIAGES

McNutt-Moran

Mr. Earl Moran, 27, and Miss Etta McNutt, 19, both of the county, were married in this city Saturday by the Rev. A. F. Stahl.

Jefferson-Johnson

Mr. Samuel Johnson, 25, and Miss Mary Jefferson, 17, both of Sardis, were married in the County Clerk's office here Saturday by County Judge W. H. Rice.

Throckmorton-Cash

Lt. Mitchell Sears Cash of Hoopesville, Ill., and Miss Clara Throckmorton of Rossville, Ill., were united in marriage with the beautiful and impressive ceremony at the parlor of Rev. I. N. Jones of the First Baptist Church Friday morning at 10:30. The bride, a pretty little blonde of 21 summers, was tastefully gowned in a navy traveling suit and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. Lt. Cash has just been mustered out of the Federal service and returned to his home station. Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Meyers an uncle and aunt of the bride, and Miss Jane Powell of Ewing and E. T. Beckett of Maysville were in attendance. After a short wedding trip they will be at home to their friends after March 10, at Hoopesville, Ill.

BEGINS TOMORROW

In the effort to secure the $3,300 necessary to get State and Federal aid to make a sanitary survey of the county.

The campaign to secure the $3,300 necessary to obtain State and Federal aid in making a sanitary survey of the county will begin actively tomorrow and as the campaign will last only a few days the workers will be very active from the very beginning.

A meeting will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce of the workers, toward this end. At this time they will organize into teams to cover the work, both in the county and city. This will be done in order that the work may be carried on in an organized manner in each community.

An expert from the State Board of Health will arrive here today to take part in the work and will be actively connected with it from the very beginning.

The United States Public Health Service stands ready to make plans for the sanitary survey as soon as the money is raised and it is expected that if the money is raised the work will begin about the first of the month.

A number of contributions have already been made to the fund, several hundred dollar ones being in the lot. Those who have given $100 are Mr. S. P. Browning, The Auxiliary of the Health League, Messrs. E. T. and Morris Kirk and a contribution from a number of prominent citizens, who did not wish their names mentioned.

Every citizen of the county should make an effort to see that the necessary sum is raised within the few days remaining of the campaign. If the sum is raised Mason county will be made one of the most sanitary counties in the entire country.

DOGGED DEFIANCE OF 12 SENATORS KILLS ARMED NEUTRALITY

Washington, March 4—Twelve Senators led by Senator La Follette and encouraged by Senator Stone, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, in a filibuster denounced by President Wilson's spokesmen as the most reprehensible in the history of any civilized nation, defied the will of an overwhelming majority in Congress up to the last minute today and denied to the President a law authorizing him to arm American merchant ships to meet the German submarine menace.

Unyielding throughout twenty-six hours of continuous session to appeals that their defiance of the President would be humiliating to the country; uncompromising in a crisis described to them as the most serious of the nation since the Civil War, La Follette and his small group of supporters refused a majority of their colleagues an opportunity to vote on the armed neutrality bill and it died with the sixty-fourth Congress at noon.

MRS. JOSEPH GRAY

Mrs. Joseph Gray died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Covert, in Aberdeen Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock following an extended illness of a complication of diseases. Mrs. Gray was 82 years of age. She is survived by seven children, Matthew of Dayton, Ky., Edgar of Lima, Ohio, William of Lockland, Ohio, Garfield of Aberdeen, H. O. of this city; Mrs. Lizzie Covert and Mrs. Dora Payne of Aberdeen. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the late home with burial in Charter Oak Cemetery.

CRAPSHOOTERS CAUGHT

Early Sunday morning Officer A. G. Stewart was attracted by a great deal of noise while patrolling his beat in the central part of the city. He investigated and found that it came from the second story of a business house on West Second street.

Mr. Stewart hastily summoned Mr. Martin Drennen, special policeman, from the lower part of the city, and together they raided the place.

The young men were taken to police headquarters where it is understood, they confessed.

SELLS VALUABLE HORSE

Mr. Langhorne Tabb Anderson of Point-au-View Stock Farm sold on Saturday one of his registered-three-gated mares, Corrine Gafner, to Miss Lulu Long of Kansas City, Missouri. The sale was made through Mr. John T. Hook, manager of Miss Long's saddle horse department. It is understood that the purchase price went into four figures. Miss Long's intention is to enter Corrine Gafner in all saddle horse shows throughout the west this year.

MAYSVILLE WON

The girls basketball team of the Maysville High School went to Flomingsburg on Friday night and defeated the five of that school. Only three more games remain for the girls team. On Friday night of this week they will play Carlisle on the local floor, next Friday at Carlisle and the 23rd of the month a game will be played on the local floor between the Athens and Adelphi Societies of the school.

LANDSLIDE CAUSES DELAYS

A large landslide near Thurmond, W. Va., caused all C. & O. fast passenger trains to be several hours late on Saturday. No. 5 was seven hours late. No. 1, five hours and No. 3 about four hours.

BABY GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. George Clophane of Limestone street are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine daughter at their home.

Mr. Charles Bramel, representative of J. T. Kackley & Co., sold on last Saturday $600 worth of Edison phonographs.

BEING TORN UP

(Ripley Dec)

Work was begun yesterday tearing up the track of the O. R. & C. railroad. The work was started at the brick plant, the end of the line.

The owners have secured permission from both the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Ohio Pacific Utilities Commission to go ahead with the work of dismantling the road, and it will proceed as speedily as possible.

Mr. Charles J. Finger informs us that he has tried in every way to interest someone in the purchase of the road as a going concern, and while he has had some six or seven prospective buyers, when they came to make investigations they all found there was not sufficient income to justify them in making the deal.

It therefore will only be a few days until the tracks will be removed through our city.

This writes fits to an enterprise that has had a hard struggle for existence since its beginning some twelve years ago. The tearing up of the road means that Ripley will have to depend upon the river and the C. & O. road, to solve its transportation problems.

FUNERAL OF MRS. POWELL

The body of Mrs. E. B. Powell, who died at her home in Port Thomas, Ky., on Friday morning, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, and was taken to the cemetery for burial. There was a short service at the grave, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Campbell, pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, of which the deceased was a devout member. The pallbearers were Messrs. William F. Hill, Clarence Mathews, Thomas W. Breen, Hugh Power and George Means.

ON WAY EAST

Mr. Ludwell A. Mills, of this city, who two weeks ago enlisted in the regular army and who since his enlistment has been at Columbus, Ohio, is now on his way east to his permanent barracks in New York. Lud will be assigned to the coast defense.

A MILLION DOLLAR SMILE

Vivian Reed, the girl with the Million Dollar Smile, supported by an all star cast in "The Princess of Patchouli" is the special feature at the Pastime this afternoon and night. Mark Sway's Love Romance of the Sunny Southland. Don't fail to see it.

The wagon shed of the Peoples Warehouse partly gave way under the heavy weight of snow Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The warehouse proper was in no way effected by the accident. The sales of this popular house will continue as usual.

The snow yesterday slightly damaged the roof of the Liberty warehouse. The accident will not cause any delay in sales at the house and carpenters will be able to repair the damage done within a few hours.

MR. CHARLES BENTLEY

Mr. Charles Bentley died in the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, Ky., on last Wednesday morning. The survivors are two brothers, W. H. Bentley, of St. Louis, and T. D. Bentley, of Mt. Sterling; eight sisters, Misses Nancy Bentley, Lucy Bentley and Ella S. Bentley, of Lexington; Miss Julia Bentley, of Maysville; Mrs. J. M. McCaleb, of Louisville; Mrs. B. G. Pennington, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Frank W. Smith and Mrs. J. B. Bronson, of Lexington.

Mr. Bentley was a former resident of Maysville.

MR. JOHN T. SMITH'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Mr. John T. Smith was held from the late home on Forest avenue yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial was made in the Maysville cemetery. The Rev. S. K. Hunt, pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church, conducted the services. The pallbearers were the members of the Board of Education of the Maysville Public Schools, of which Mr. Smith was a member together with Prof. Caplinger. Six of the gentlemen were active pallbearers and six honorary.

WANTS ALL THE POWER

The President's address to Congress leaves no doubt as to what he wants. He wants all the power and all the resources of the nation placed in his hands, with Congress dispersed while he tempts fate with the issues of peace or war. We may freely admit that Mr. Wilson is firmly devoted to the cause of peace, that nothing which he would do knowingly would involve us in hostilities; and it may be, that nothing which he would do unwillingly would produce such an outcome.

But even so, it would be a dangerous precedent to establish. The war-making powers of the Constitution are vested solely in Congress. They and not the President are the representatives of the people, from whom they take a frequent mandate. If they make a vital error now they may be dealt with in November of next year. If the President makes a vital error now he may not be dealt with until November, 1920.

Even if the President possessed all the wisdom of the country—which he will not claim, even if he embodied all the virtue of the nation—which he will not claim, even if his Cabinet were a 'Ministry of the talents'—which they are not, it would be most unwise to place in his hands the power which he desires.

The American President, under the Constitution, already possesses more authority than any other chief of state. European monarchs are guided by their Ministries, who, in turn, are responsible to parliaments, which are speedily responsive to the popular will. The sole check on an American President is the councils of Congress; and there is no feasible and peaceful method of diminishing his tenure. To add to his powers as Mr. Wilson asks might or might not result in war. It might produce a war which the people's representatives could not sanction in morals but which in practice they would have to sustain. It might produce a peace which they likewise could not approve in patriotism, though they might be compelled to submit to it. And it surely would create a situation wherein there would be more of future danger to American institutions than could be found in the most bloody and costly of wars or in the most supine sort of peace.

Judging the future of the United States in the long perspective of centuries and not by the mere phases of a passing condition, it would be far better to wage war, to expend life, and to squander treasure than to admit that the people, through their representatives, were so doubtful of their own judgment and their own sentiment that they preferred to surrender to one man and to one mind the greatest issue which can confront a nation.

The New York Times, vigorous supporter of the Administration in the campaign, devoted four editorial articles in a single issue this week to deploring the battleship scandal, the pork barrel hunger of Democrats in Congress, the lapses of Secretary Lansing and the failure of the National Guard system.

MAYSVILLE PEOPLE INVITED TO MEET HEALTH EXPERT

Hypop Man Arrives for Week's Stay, With Headquarters at the Leading Drugstore, Where Free Consultation is Offered All Sufferers From Nervousness, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplessness and Debility.

Chester Sparring, the HYPOP Health Expert, will meet the people of Maysville and vicinity in person, beginning this morning, at his headquarters in the drugstore of J. James Wood & Son, 1 Second Street (Corner of Market).

During his stay of one week in Maysville, Mr. Sparring will personally answer all inquiries about health matters that are referred to him by callers. No charge will be made and there is no obligation of any kind.

Mr. Sparring is a Cincinnati Chemist, sent to Maysville direct by the manufacturers of HYPOP, a wonderful nerve tonic and blood purifier, which has benefited thousands of suffering men and women in every part of the country where it has been introduced.

Just how HYPOP acts on the individual case will be explained in full detail to every inquirer, so that each caller may know in what way his or her health may be improved through its use. If HYPOP cannot benefit you, Mr. Sparring will frankly tell you so. But, come in to meet him, as your trouble can probably be relieved, just as so many other unusual and chronic ailments have been cured by this wonderful health builder.

The principal ingredients of HYPOP are Hypophosphites, May Pop and Gentian. They make a scientific combination that gives relief from pain, sleeplessness, nervousness, weakness and loss of appetite, while at the same time building up the entire body and assisting Nature to do her work.

As an illustration of what HYPOP has done for the suffering, a single testimonial out of many received by the manufacturers, is given here, as follows:

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the wonderful results I got from using Hypop. I was nervous, unable to sleep, and what little sleep I did get did not rest my nerves. I was put on Hypop. It made a new physical machine of me. The first bottle made a big change in me, especially easing my nerves and giving me perfect rest. You may show this letter if you want to, and anyone who wants to know the genuineness of it can be referred to me and I will answer any letter that comes to me. (Signed) Frank Whitehead, Redfield, Perry County, Ohio.

The HYPOP Health Expert will keep his headquarters in Maysville open all week and receive all callers in person.

FOOD PRICES IN NEW YORK TAKE ABNORMAL DROP

New York, March 2.—Abnormal decrease in the prices of such staple food commodities as potatoes and onions since last Monday morning, as compared with the prices of February 22, have saved the people of New York City approximately $5,000,000, Commissioner of Weights and Measures Hartigan estimated in a statement issued tonight.

"Whatever credit is to be given for the breaking of an apparent corner in onions and potatoes, caused primarily by transportation congestion, coupled with crop shortages and reduced reserve supplies, obviously taken advantage of by food speculators," Mr. Hartigan said, "is due to the common sense of the people of the city, who established an automatic boycott by refusing to buy other potatoes or onions, thus applying the inexorable law of supply and demand. It is manifest that in the boycott system the unorganized consumer has in his possession a most powerful weapon to reduce prices of certain commodities upon which prohibitive values have been placed."

Mr. Hartigan said he had received letters and telegrams from producers and shippers in all parts of the country, offering large quantities of foodstuffs at prices in some cases thirty per cent, less than New York hotel prices. Among the supplies offered were 500,000 bushels of potatoes and 100,000 bushels of onions.

Mr. Perkins announced tonight that his committee had purchased "a very large quantity" of Brazilian beans which will be put on sale Monday at eight cents a pound retail. The committee also will sell hominy at four cents a pound and rice at six cents. All the commodities will be supplied to grocers who care to handle them at prices which will enable them to make a reasonable profit and still sell at the retail prices which have been fixed.

The committee has contracted for about 80,000 rounds more of Pacific coast snails which will be delivered here next week to sell at six cents a pound.

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Maysville Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pain about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and kidney disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed—Read this Maysville woman's convincing statement:

Miss Dora Edgington, Wood St., Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and from the results received, I have every reason to recommend them. At times, my kidneys have become weak and have been irregular in action. My back has ached, too and has been very weak and lame across my kidneys. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for this trouble, they have never failed to relieve the complaint in a short time. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Chandler's Drug Store, if troubled in that way."

Miss Edgington is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Miss Edgington had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Snow-White Synopsis

When the queen discovers that Snow-white has escaped her, she tries to kill her with a magic comb and then inveigles her into biting a poisoned apple. Snow-white falls prostrate and is discovered by the dwarfs who carry her body into the palace, where the queen rejoices until the Prince Florimund threatens to kill her. In the excitement, the dwarfs drop the comb in the basket in which there lies the body of Snow-white. The apple had stuck in her throat and she had not swallowed it. The witch turns Brangomar into a peacock.

THE FOUNDING OF THE REPUBLICAN

A Most Interesting Article by Hon.
James E. Blaine of Cincinnati—
Tells Much History of Maysville During War.

Seabreeze, Fla., February 6, 1917.
My Dear Mr. Matthews:

Your letter of January 25th, requesting me to contribute some personal reminiscences of Maysville, for the semi-centennial edition of the "MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN," and including such matters of interest as I may recall, respecting the founding of that paper March 2nd, 1867, after following me about the country, finally reached me at this delightful place by the sea, where I am spending the winter with my family. Your letter in addition to the above request contains the, to me, almost startling information that I am the only survivor of the original subscribers to that staunch little publication, that began what was then thought a precarious existence, but which has, through its consistent course and progressive spirit, commanded the respect and support of the community for fifty years.

It doesn't seem to me so long ago, and yet when I turn over the pages of memory and recall the faces of the familiar ones of my own age, and of the splendid men and women (our mothers and fathers of the preceding generation, that made the life of the dear old city at that time, I realize, alas! how few there are remaining to answer to Memory's roll call. George Ade says, "A man is old on the day when he begins doddering of the past, instead of planning for the future." Well, in complying with your request, I hope this one time won't count, though I must confess there have been times during the years since I called Maysville, home, when in fancy's dream I have visited the charming little city under the hill, wandered up one street and down another, visited with the friends of the bygone, and inhaled the sweetness and fragrance of their presence; lived again the care-free and happy days of boyhood, followed with excitement and boyish ambition, the great fire engines, "Nisgara," and "Neptune," and "Little Red," when, in response to the fire alarm, they dashed wildly through the streets; looked with longing eyes for the coming of the gala days, made glorious by the parade of the firemen drawing their gaily dressed engines; the great holidays, July 4th, and Christmas, the former celebrated by the firing of cannon, and pienes, and the latter with illuminations, fire-crackers and fire-works; the happier days of the more mature years, the enthusiasms and ambitions of young manhood, its activities, its church and social life, its—but, rudely awakened from the reverie, have, with a sigh, turned to the realities of the latter day.

Maysville, at the time "The Republican" made its appearance, had not become fully adjusted to the new conditions resulting from the Civil War; it had sent its sons into both the Northern and Southern Armies, and their families, with but few exceptions, loyally supported the cause for which their sons fought; quite naturally, friendships were broken, strong partisan feelings prevailed, and for a long time conditions existed that could be relieved only by the softening influence of time. Because of my youth and the violent opposition of my parents, I did not enlist in the Army, but spent the year 1864 in a civilian position with the Army of West Virginia, and was present at a number of the battles fought in that State. At the close of the War, I learned that many of Maysville's boys in the Southern Army, had taken part in engagements where my duty had taken me, and one of these was a most intimate boyhood friend. It gives me pleasure to say our friendship was immediately resumed, and further, that so far as I could observe, those on the opposite sides who had been friends before the war, were more readily reconciled to the new conditions than those who had previously been friends, but who had taken no part in the activities of either side. To a large extent, the social life of the city had been practically destroyed, and during this period it was neither so gracious nor generous as it had been in the past years.

Two newspapers, the "MAYSVILLE EAGLE," issued as a weekly and as a tri-weekly, democratic, but to some extent independent, and the "MAYSVILLE BULLETIN," strictly democratic, together with the Cincinnati dailies, the "GAZETTE," the "COMMERCIAL" and the "ENQUIRER," supplied the reading public of Maysville with the news of the day, and well do I remember "Uncle Billie Herb," the agent for the Cincinnati papers, and the evenings that were spent often until midnight, especially during existing political campaigns and other occasions of deep interest, waiting for Uncle Billie to open his packages after the arrival of the boat, that we might secure and scan the papers before going to bed.

In 1860, either six or seven votes were cast in Maysville and Mason county for Abraham Lincoln; the first Republican votes ever cast in the city and county. The offenders being as nearly as I remember, my father, Samuel Lyon Blaine, who having attended some of the debates between Lincoln and Douglas, had become impressed with the greatness of the man; John T. Dye, Charles B. Phister, William E. Sedden, and Morris Hutchins, Sr. I believe I am correct as to these; of the others I have no record. In no other place in the country, except perhaps in the extreme Southern States, did excitement run so high during the Presidential campaign of 1860, as in the border states. The City of Maysville was no exception; men stood against when it became known they had those among them who avowed their intention to vote for Abraham Lincoln; friends counseled and pleaded, the fair name of the city was at stake, all kinds of arguments, and almost threats were used to turn them from their evil purpose, but all to no avail. They were determined and they dared to do. All honor to them, they stood man to man through the fiercest of the conflict, despite taunts and jeers, regardless of opposition and criticism, and in the face of threatened ostracism in the community where they lived, they had the firmness of character as free men to demand the privilege of exercising their franchise in accordance with their own righteous judgment, and hesitated not to openly cast their ballot for the man of their choice. The day had scarcely closed, when these gentlemen were honored by some of their fellow townsmen by whom they were burned in effigy; stuffed figures to represent each of them were prepared; a line from which the figures were suspended was stretched from the pillars of the County Court House to the Methodist Episcopal Church on the opposite side of the street. Combustibles were assembled beneath the figures, and when all was in readiness the torch was applied, the fire bells of the city rang out their alarm, and men and women were roused from their sleep to witness the disgrace that had befallen their little city. The town boys were always instantly ready for a fire, and upon that occasion, on being roused by the fire bells, I hastily dressed and started for the door but was summarily stopped by my mother who sent me back to my bed, and I remained ignorant of what had occurred until the morning. The incident was one that, boy as I was, burned Republicanism into my soul, and from the time that I became a voter to this day, my loyalty to the Republican Party has never been questioned. These men were the fathers of the Republican Party in Maysville and Mason county. It had made a small beginning, but it had made a good beginning, and as the years passed it grew, and continued to grow in power and strength until it materialized into respectable proportions that demanded recognition in public affairs. As previously stated, the only newspapers of the city were democratic, and so it came about early in the year of 1867, that Captain Thomas A. Davis, true Republican that he was, with fore-sight and good judgment, set about establishing in Maysville a Republican paper, and through his indomitable zeal, the "MAYSVILLE REPUBLICAN" made its bow to the public. Under what circumstances his work was accomplished, I do not know; perhaps I was too much of a kid (as we would say in those days) to be taken into the counsel of the gray beards. At any rate, I knew nothing of the establishing of the new paper until I was asked to become a subscriber. From the start it was a tremendous factor in the political history of the day; its consistent support of Republican principles strengthened the party and gave it confidence, throughout the entire Congressional district. Its untiring efforts and convincing arguments brought victory many times to its party candidates, and its influence was always on the side of law and order. I have always had a suspicion that Honorable W. H. Wadsworth, George M. Thomas of Lewis county, Newton Cooper, John J. Anderson of Montgomery county, then U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue, and Samuel L. Blaine, then U. S. Assessor of Internal Revenue, were largely responsible for its early support, but of that I have no positive knowledge. However that may be, the fact remains that it was built on a sure foundation.

Among the first Republican papers established in Kentucky, and so far as I know, the oldest one now in existence, it has through fifty years been loyal to the city of its birth, honest and earnest in its endeavors for the good of the community, and in extending my congratulations, I also wish that its centennial may be celebrated in the due course of time, with all the pomp and ceremony appropriate to such an occasion.

In mentioning Mr. Wadsworth's name I awaken recollections of my boyish admiration for him as a man and orator. He and my father were fast friends, through which relations, I came to know him in my boyhood, and as I grew in years I sought every opportunity to sit under the sound of his voice, whether presenting a case in court or delivering a classic address. It was my great pleasure to accompany him on a campaigning tour in Lewis county on one occasion which was an event that has remained with me as one of life's red letter days. An incident that occurred also made the trip a memorable one. As we were driving through the eastern end of Mason county, on a dry and dusty day, we stopped at a large country house and asked for water for ourselves and our horses. The old lady of the house sent a messenger to the spring and while waiting for his she asked my name. On being told, she remarked, "Why of course you know this place, for this is where your pappy once lived," and in this way was I introduced to the house in which I was born, and from which I was taken while an infant never to return but this one time.

Just a word further of personal history. I never knew until recently that any of my ancestors had ever visited Maysville prior to the coming of my father, but from a diary kept by Dr. Snugrain, a pioneer Kentucky explorer, and a published copy of which has lately come into my hands, I take the following extracts relating to my great-grandfather Colonel Ephraim Blaine, Commissary General of the Revolutionary Army, which may be of interest to Maysville readers.

"Louisville, Ky., May 7th, 1788." An excellent opportunity is presented, and I am going to avail myself of it. Colonel Blaine is going as far as Carlisle (Carlisle, Pennsylvania, was his home) and I intend to travel with him, that is to say, we shall see the whole of Quimtagua (Kentucky) together. We shall go on horseback as far as Limestone (Maysville) where we shall take the small boats which are to take us to Mousquingone (Muskogum). They were two weeks making the journey and we quote again the record of the last three days: "Of the 16th. At one o'clock we arrived at Lexington, the capital of Kentucky. This city is not large, but it is the largest in the country. It is quite pleasantly situated. We found ourselves present at the time for holding Court, which brings in quite a large number of people. I think we shall remain here two days, and shall use two days getting to Limestone." "Of the 19th. Set out at seven o'clock, we got to Bourbon (Paris) at eleven o'clock. We departed thence and made only five miles. We made the night in that place because Colonel Blaine had business." "Of the 20th. We set out at three o'clock. We dined at Salmehien (Blue Licks). It is a very extraordinary thing to see eight or ten feet apart two springs, one of which is very salt, the other fresh. A great quantity of salt is made here by evaporating the water. From Blue Licks we went to a little town four miles from Limestone Creek. This town is quite large; it is called Wagonetone (Washington). From there we went to Limestone, whence I intend to depart tomorrow seeing that the boats have arrived from the falls."

Of Colonel Blaine's further movements we have no record, but it is quite probable he remained in Limestone for some time as his business in Kentucky was entering lands under Treasury Warrants and looking after other lands which he had entered some years before. One of these tracts containing five thousand acres, is described as "opposite two islands, between the Scioto River and Unshon Creek, on the banks of the Ohio River."

Fifty years later (1838) Ephraim Blaine's grandson, Samuel Lyon Blaine, who had become familiar with all the points along the river while engaged in flat boat traffic between Pittsburgh and New Orleans, chose Maysville as his home. Here in 1840 he married Anna Coons, sister of the Reverend George W. and Charles B. Coons; here his family was raised and here he and his wife lie buried.

Nearly fifty years later, his oldest son, your correspondent, attracted by the broader life of the world, resigned the office of U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue, which he had held for many years, and sought a home elsewhere. In Maysville he married; in Maysville his children were born, and though a new generation to whom he is practically a stranger, fills its streets, he holds in memory dear, fond recollections, and a loving reverence for the little city under the hills.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN EWING BLAINE.

"SNOW WHITE"

One of the most charming pictures that has ever been seen at the Washington Theater will appear there Tuesday night when Marguerite Clark stars in the Famous Players adaptation of the beloved fairy tale "Snow White," which is the Paramount attraction for the week. "Snow White" was directed by J. Searle Dawley, who has presided over all of Miss Clark's most recent successes.

It will be remembered that Miss Clark starred in the stage adaptation of the Grim Brothers' tale under the personal direction of Winthrop Ames at the Little Theater where the delightful play remained for two seasons. Mr. Ames very kindly placed himself at the disposal of the Famous Players in so far as his experience with the stage production was concerned, and loaned the producers all the costumes which were used in the stage presentation of the story.

Realizing how important the seven little dwarfs would be in the picture, Director Dawley spent a great deal of time in obtaining the services of seven real midgits. The adaptation of a fairy story for the screen affords the producer an excellent opportunity to employ the art of photography in depicting with scenes and other mystifying phenomena which can be produced on the screen with the greatest possible effect. In this respect the photoplay version of "Snow White" will undoubtedly approach more closely the fascination of the original Grimm story than did the stage play, which was necessarily limited in its magic effects.

Among those who appear in support of Miss Clark in "Snow White" are Creighton Hale, Dorothy G. Cumming, Lionel Graham and Alice Washburn.

There are men who will talk to a Sunday-school as if every child in it had the wisdom of Solomon.

Another victory was scored by the Maysville Baraca yesterday when the score was 70 to 41. This puts Maysville way in the lead as the local class has been defeated but once.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Central Presbyterian Church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Hall Stride on East Second street.

A baptismal service was held in the Forest Avenue M. E. Church yesterday morning following the regular service. Following this service a number were received into full membership with the church.

Small crowds were present at the services in various parts of the city yesterday. There have been a number of unpleasant Sundays during this winter and the average attendance will not compare favorably with that of other winters.

Another of the series of sermons on "Sin" was preached on last evening by Rev. S. K. Hunt, pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church. The subject was "Do Our Sins Always Find Us Out?" and was handled in a splendid way.

The teachers and officers of the Bible School of the Christian Church will have a meeting in the church on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock following prayer meeting. The regular church officers will meet on Friday night.

Plans are being made by the various churches in the surrounding country to send delegates to the State Sunday School Convention to be held in this city next fall. Various committees have been appointed and within a few weeks definite plans will begin to assume shape.

The missionary addresses given by G. H. Scott, C. M. Howling, L. H. Young and J. T. Knackley, who are elders in the Christian church were very much enjoyed by those attending that church in the morning. Upon J. T. Knackley's suggestion backed up by his special pledge and that of two others, the church voted to assume the support of a missionary in China. For two years this church has been paying about half

You're Probably

A Lot More Interested

In seeing the first robin or blue bird; or the first blades of new grass on the putting green or the lawn; are the signs that the frost is coming out of the ground, than in the new styles in men's clothes for spring.

But the new styles are here; they're just as much a sign of spring as the others; and they're important to you in a more definite way than birds or grass; you have to wear clothes. Of course, we want you to come and see what we have for you; that's the reason for having them here; Hart Schaffner & Marx have made some of the best models for Men and Young Men you ever saw. All wool fabrics, the best of tailoring, and smartest of styles; and a good fit for every figure.

We have all the other things men wear; Neckwear, Shirts, Hosiery, Hats, Gloves, etc. We bought them all for our customers; they're here for you ready when you come.
